£95K investment programme proposed for Axmouth Harbour WORK WILL COMPLEMENT ICE MAKING MACHINE AND THERMAL BOXES

A £95,000 improvement programme could be carried out at Axmouth Harbour. East Devon District Council (EDDC) has already pledged £17,000 towards the project, but the council grant will only be paid if a bid for £70,000 from the European Maritime and Fisheries Fund (EMFF) is successful.

EDDC has agreed to assist East Devon Fishermen's Association (EDFA) in obtaining funding for improved fish landing facilities at Axmouth Harbour.

As part of that agreement, EDDC allocated £17,000 of capital funding towards the project in the 2017/18 financial year.

The improvement package would see:

• The construction of a concrete apron adjacent to the harbour wall;Ducting laid in the concrete apron

for future cable for the possible future

The concrete apron will complement the chiller unit, which includes an ice making machine and thermal boxes installed by EDFA in 2014.

A report prepared for EDDC's Cabinet said:

"The works will help the local fishermen comply with EU directives for landing of fish, as well as improving the viability of the local fishing fleet.

"Ultimately, this will help ensure the continued income from Axmouth Harbour for EDDC. "The proposed works are estimated to cost £95,000, of which £70,000 is potentially available from EMFF with a further £8,000 available from EDFA funds.

"It is proposed that EDDC as owner of the harbour contribute the remaining £17,000 to make up the remaining funding. "The £17,000 requested as a capital contribution from EDDC would be dependent on a successful bid for £70,000 funding from EMFF and a further $8,000 from EDFA.

"EDFA will procure and supervise the works, with advice and support from EDDC officers as necessary."

Councillor Ian Thomas (ward member for Trinity), spoke in support of the initiative at Cabinet, and added: "I am really pleased that EDDC has chosen to support this initiative.

"It will improve the fish landing facilities, thereby supporting our local fishermen through enhancing the quality of their catch. "It's an excellent partnership venture and will

Mrs Fitzgerald said: "It has been a privilege to work with a strong, skilled and committed executive team, who have not only been unfaltering in their support of me, but who will confidently lead the CCG through out next phase of development."

Dr Tim Burke, NEW Devon CCG chairman, said Janet had had an 'enormous impact on the organisation'.

Dr David Jenner tendered his resignation at the end of March saying: "Life, it seems, has entered a different phase.

"This has caused me to pause; to consider how I can best use my time in future to benefit my patients, my local population and, I am not ashamed to say, myself and family too."

Dr Jenner added: "My decision is unconnected with any dissatisfaction regarding my role or the direction of the CCG.

"Indeed, I have already offered to remain a 'friend of the CCG' over the coming months and you will probably still see me on the TV or hear me on the radio in my GP role."

Pulman's View from approached the CCG regarding rumours that Angela Pedder, Janet Fitzgerald and Dr David Jenner were all leaving the organisation following a passing comment from a regular contributor.

There was no information on the CCG's website or social media regarding the three high profile members leaving their posts.

Villages Plan: District councillor won't face charges after allegations of failing to declare an interest

A POLICE investigation into claims district councillor Helen Parr failed to declare an interest before taking part in an East Devon District Council debate has been closed, with no further action to be taken.

The complaint relates to a meeting earlier this year about the EDDC Villages Plan.

Councillor Parr is a director of J.& F.J. Baker in Colyton, which owns land surrounding the CeramTec site debated at the meeting, but says she owns no stake in the company.

Two members of the public felt she had broken rules regarding councillors' declarations of interest and should not have spoken at the meeting, so made a complaint to police.

Councillor Parr denied any wrongdoing, calling the allegation "a fabrication".

Police launched an investigation but, on June 29th, a police spokesperson confirmed that the case was closed.

The spokesperson also confirmed that police had passed a file to the Crown Prosecution Service, which decided to take no further action.

• THE former CeramTec site has been purchased by the Homes and Communities Agency.

Comprising 7.56 acres, the site and its future have been talking points since the CeramTec (UK) factory closed a few years ago.

The agency intends to redevelop the site for employment and residential use.

Exeter's AAT office wins 'Branch of the Year' award

THE Exeter branch of AAT (Association of Accounting Technicians) has been named 'Branch of the Year' at the AAT Professional Member Awards.

Held at the De Vere Beaumont Estate in Windsor on Thursday, June 8th, the awards are designed to celebrate AAT's professional members, and acknowledge their excellent and inspiring achievements.

The Exeter branch impressed the panel for its varied CPD programme, its involvement with the local community, and some innovative ideas on how to improve its event experience.

The Exeter branch committee holds an event programme for local AAT members that has a balance of core and innovative topics to appeal to a wide range of members, while ensuring that hot topics - such as cyber security, cloud computing and making tax digital - are also covered.

ISABELLE Hilton won Seaton Primary PTA's summer fete programme cover design competition.

The school's parent and teacher organisation held the competition to find a suitable design the front cover of this year's summer fete programme.

The fete, which is being held on Saturday (July 8th), has a circus theme and the children were briefed to design a front cover in-keeping with the theme Isabelle's vibrant design was amongst those shortlisted from more than 300 entries across all year groups.

The winner was chosen by Louise Hancock, a representative of the PTA, who project managed the programme from start to finish.

Louise said: "There were some fantastic entries and it was clear to see that all the children had put in a lot of efAnders Larsson Reporter | anders@viewnews.co.uk

fort into their designs. 'It was really difficult to choose a winner but Isabelle's design stood out for being so colourful and full of life. "The fete promises a fun-

packed day for all the family with free entry and free bouncy castles for the children to enjoy.

"We have been overwhelmed by the support of local businesses and organisations this year with over 40 fantastic prizes donated for our Grand Raffle," added PTA secretary Marie Bower.

She also said: "We would like to thank Signs Southwest for donating an eye-catching advertising banner, Seaton Design & Print for putting to gether the programme, and all of our advertising sponsors.

"Lastly, we must thank all of the parent and teachers who have signed up to help on the day, without whom the fete simply could not go ahead."

Everyone is welcome at the summer fete which will be held on Saturday from 11am-2pm at Seaton Primary School.

Entry is via the main school gates only.

Public views shape beach plan

PUBLIC feedback has been provided to help shape Seaton Beach Management Plan Management Plan (BMP)

East Devon District Council (EDDC) officials were very pleased with the response to a public consultation event at the end of last month.

The BMP will map out poli-cies for flood and coastal erosion risk management from Axmouth Harbour to Seaton Hole.

During the event, information was given about the risk of flooding and erosion and people were invited to leave feedback and provide feedback.

Councillor Tom Wright, EDDC's portfolio holder for the environment, said: "I at-tended the event and was pleased to hear a number of proposals, all of which will be considered.

"There is very clear desire from the community to im-prove the beach and seafront and EDDC is looking forward to working with a range of partners to achieve that aim. A spokesperson for EDDC said: "Local people responded positively to the BMP pub-lic consultation at Marshlands.

"The event was well attended with members of the public able to discuss the proposed BMP with EDDC's BMP project team and the council's consultants, CH2M, who explained the BMP process and how the local community can help feed into it.

"Over the coming weeks, CH2M will undertake the baseline stage of the BMP, which is why any information about how the coastline has changed will be helpful in understanding the coastal pro cesses at Seaton.'

EDDC chief executive and Axmouth Harbour master Mark Williams, commented: "It's good to see so many people interested in Seaton's beach, seafront and harbour and we welcome any comments and information that will improve our understanding of the coast and its needs.

For those who were unable to attend the drop-in day, the consultation material can be found online at http://eastdevon.gov.uk/consultation-andsurveys/seaton-beach-manage ment-plan

The spokesperson said: "There will be further opportunity to provide feedback on the project as it progresses." The BMP is separate to Seaton Town Council's seafront masterplan, which focuses on regeneration.

Axminster's young performers stage powerful 'Blood Brothers'

Peter Hodges

THE youth of Axminster Drama Club recently put on a sterling performance of Willy Russell's West End smash hit Blood Brothers at the Guildhall.

The well known story tells the tale of Mickey Johnston and Eddie Lyons, twins separated at birth who would later, without knowina they were brothers, become best friends. Eddie's privilege and rise in social circles and Mickey's lack of opportunity - plus Eddie's feelings for Mickey's wife, Linda - sees the two come to loggerheads.

Set against the backdrop of Liverpool in the 1960s the story starts with Mrs Johnston taking a job with the wealthy Lyons family, with Keziah Foster excellent as Mrs Lyons. The role of Mrs Johnston was shared by Katie Richards and Georgie Harwood across the four shows, with audiences impressed by both leading ladies. On the night Pulman's Weekly News attended, Mrs Johnston was played by Katie Richards, who blew the audience away with her vulnerable and maternal performance; she played the role, which was of an age far beyond her formative years, with aplomb.

Matilda Leat, Ewan Roy and Emily Newton took on the troublesome trio of Mickey, Eddie and Linda aged seven and had the audience in stitches with their witty banter.

As the tone of the play became more serious so did the performances, as James Windsor, Tobi Rouse and Jessica Richards (on the night the show was reviewed) got their teeth stuck into the gritty text. The role of Linda was also shared, between Jessica Richards and Jessica Leat, across the four nights.

The audience watched as the bond holding the trio of friends together slowly disintegrated as Mickey's world came tumbling down. James Windsor's performance was emotional and full of passion as he exploded under the pressure of trying to provide for his family.

James' powerful performance worked well against the calmness and believability of Tobi and Jessica, who tried to convince Mickey that they only wanted to help him.

When the finale came the audience was captivated by the stand-off between Mickey,

Eddie and a gun, thanks to the excellent use of the space by directors Jack Price and Sara Leat.

The supporting cast all did their jobs well to help tell the story so effectively, with the role of the narrator split between six members of the cast who, perched high above the stage, inserted their thoughts on the proceeding story.

The set design was simple yet brilliant as the stage was split into Mrs Lyons' and Mrs Johnston's respective homes.

Some of the cast can next be seen in Axminster Drama Club's anticipated production of 'Spamalot'.

A NEW book on Roman history by local author Bijan Omrani has been endorsed by Foreign Secretary Boris Johnson.

AXMINSTER

Written by Bijan Omrani, Caesar's Footprints: Journeys to Roman Gaul, looks at Julius Caesar's conquest of Gaul and the cultural impact of the 500-year Roman presence in that country.

The author formerly taught classics at Eton College and Westminster School. He currently teaches a weekly Latin class at Shute Community Primary School.

Mr Omrani made a number of journeys to France over the last two years to research the Roman legacy there, and he is also the author of books on Afghanistan and the Silk Road.

The Foreign Secretary was sent an advance proof of the book and replied: "Without the conquests of Caesar there would have been no Roman Empire – and, so many of us believe, no continuing Freudian impulse for a European Union today.

"This terrific account lays bare the horror and cruelty of Caesar's campaigns – as well as the astonishing achievements of the Romans.

"Bursting with anecdotes and fizzing with unexpected information, Caesar's Footprints compels us to ask - how much does our continent owe to one man and his naked and cynical lust for glory?

Caesar's Footprints has also been endorsed by other authors including Justin Marozzi, Robert Twigger and Sir Sherard Cowper-Coles.

It has just been reviewed in the Literary Review by Daisy Dunn, who said: "In places, his book evokes Richard Holmes's pursuit of Robert Louis Stevenson through France in his marvellous Footsteps.

The event was organised by the projects team at the Rockbeare branch of Keyline, the civils and drainage solutions experts.

In excess of 90 Keyline staff, customers and members of the local community took part in the event at Luppitt Village Hall, near Honiton, and were quizzed

To boost the fundraising total, a raffle and auction took place with prizes kindly donated by many local businesses.

Project team manager Bee Rogers said: "Prostate Cancer UK is Keyline's chosen charity so we were keen to do something to support such a worthy cause. Staff and the local community really supported the evening, so a huge thank you to everyone that took part and helped us raise such a fantastic amount of money."

THE parents and children of Offwell School were delighted with the outcome of their recent Ofsted inspection.

The judgement of the lead inspector, Alison Cogher, was that the school "continues to be Good" and that a "cohesive team ethos permeates all aspects of school life and promotes the school's core values of 'caring, sharing, honesty, loyalty and forgiveness . with enthusiasm and commitment"

Peter Hodges Reporter | peter@viewnews.co.uk

The inspector acknowledged that the school had correctly identified and was already working towards areas of strength and potential development.

She said the headteacher and governors "understand the school's strengths and take speedy action to tackle weaknesses'

Headteacher Mrs Billington

said: "Whilst the school was delighted to receive confirmation that our own judgments and actions were accurate and on target, we will continue to work together towards constantly improving the learning opportunities for our children. We were especially pleased to have the fantastic community spirit and trust between the wider community and the school celebrated as a strength as these are vital to our success.

Honiton Girl Guides looking for more volunteers to help

GIRLGUIDING in Honiton is desperately searching for new volunteers to help lead the fun activities that Rainbows, Brownies and Guides like to get up to.

Tina Stilltoe, 1st Honiton Brownies and Honiton District Commissioner, said: "Currently we have just one Rainbow, one Brownie and one Guide group, all of which are at full capacity.

"There are currently 46 girls waiting to join the units active in Honiton but without some new leaders, they may not get to join.'

Full training and support would be given to anyone interested in joining.

Girlguiding offers a wide range of activities for girls aged between five and 16. Recent activities have included fencing, parties, action packed weekends away and sleepovers in the Playdome and Honiton Library, the girls also like to do crafts and nature activities.

AFTER a triumphant success last year, Hospiscare's Jolly Good Jaunt – a sponsored walk starting and finishing at The Deer Park Country House Hotel in Honiton – is back.

The walk will take place on on Sunday, October 29th and to launch the event, Steve from The Deer Park collected Hospiscare patient Brian Mills and his Volunteer Care Navigator David Woodward, and treated them both to a trip in one of the hotel's classic cars, a Packard V12.

Brian, a keen car enthusiast, thoroughly enjoyed the journey which was followed by tea and cake with his family at The Deer Park.

Brian's daughter spoke about her father's Care Navigator: "Although Dave has not known dad for long it feels like we have always known him.

"He is an easy and nice person to talk to, having him around has given us a sense of comfort and peace of mind at a very difficult time.'

People living with a life-limiting illness sometimes need a helping hand to achieve what is important to them. Volunteer Care Navigators enable Hospiscare patients to live well at home within their own communities by offering emotional and practical support, helping patients as they navigate their local health care and social services

The funds raised from the Jolly Good Jaunt at The Deer Park will support Kings House in Honiton, and allow Hospiscare to provide much needed additional care services within the community, including the training of more Volunteer Care Navigators to extend the successful scheme.

The Jolly Good Jaunt is a 7.5 mile sponsored walk from the Deer Park Country House Hotel through the breathtaking beauty of the autumnal East Devon countryside and it's never too early to sign yourself up for it.

Seaton Tesco distributes surplus food to the r

Seaton branch is fifth in the company's Devon league table for meal donations, as part of the Community Food Connection food surplus redistribution initiative.

Community Food Connection, has now served 20,921 meals with food from the Seaton branch, 270,167 from branches in Devon and 10million nationally, helping more than 5,000 charities and comAnders Larsson Chief reporter | anders@viewnews.co.uk munity groups across the country. Launched in February 2016, the initiative plays a key role in helping charities feed people and, in doing so, enabling the money saved to be invested back into services in communities across the whole of the UK.

This work is a key part of Tesco's target to ensure no tion will go to waste by the end of 2017. Charities benefitting from the scheme include Honiton 55+ Community Centre

The scheme, run in partnership with food redistribution charity FareShare, enables Tesco stores to donate unsold food to feed people in need through an app developed by Irish Social Enterprise, Food-Cloud

The app lets local charities know there is surplus food available at the end of each day. Community groups can then collect and use the food to provide nutritious meals to vulnerable people. Working with FareShare, Tesco colleagues in Seaton have helped enlist local charities to join the initiative.

The scheme is already live in all large Tesco stores, and is currently rolling out to a further 1,800 convenience stores nationwide

Rhodri Evans, South West Regional Communications Manager at Tesco said: "It's great to see the difference Community Food Connection is making by providing people in need with meals from food that would otherwise waste. We know that it frees up time and resources so that the charities using it can focus on offering other services.

"Our colleagues are playing an important role, too.

'Together with FareShare. they're helping to make sure local charities across the UK have access to surplus food from our stores.'

Remembering Jo Cox

ZOE Lloyd and several of her neighbours in Burrow Road, Seaton, organised a street party in memory of murdered MP Jo Cox as part of the nationwide 'Great Get Together

The party proved to be a hit and featured activities like walking football, quick cricket, cuddly toy catching and more. Seaton residents Joyce and Keith West attended, and jointly said: "Jo wanted people in a community to get together and to feel they belonged.

"The age range was about 20 to over 80, but everyone enjoyed this new experience.

"There were certainly no serious faces. Laughter was the order of the day. Nothing bonds people more than laughing together.

"Everyone met several neighbours to whom they had never spoken."

Food was an important element of the party, and the Wests said: "The barbecue was deli-cious and the fire pit kept everyone cosy and warm until late evening.

"The participants provided various items of food and there was a collection bucket for those who wished to donate something for Devon Air Ambulance Trust, so someone else benefited from our friendly gathering too. A most enjoyable time was had by all. "We would thoroughly recommend this to other local communities. Jo Cox's name will long be remembered."

Mrs Cox was the MP for Batley and Spen when murdered on June 16th last year just before she was about to hold a constituency surgery in Birstall, West Yorkshire.

Thomas Mair was subsequently found guilty of her murder and sentenced to life imprison ment

Danielle and Thomas after 'tying the knot'

STUDENTS at Seaton Primary enjoyed a very special morning attending their very own sch-ool wedding.

As part of the Religious Education curriculum, the children have spent time learning about how Christians and other faiths celebrate marriage.

This culminated in a mock wedding at St Gregory's church.

Pupils played the parts for the bride and groom, bridesmaids, ushers, best man and father and mother of the bride and groom, while all the other children and staff attended as wedding guests. A spokesperson for the primary school said: "A massive thank you to the Rev Jeremy Trew at St Gregory's Church who led the service and to Just Flowers of Seaton who very generously donated the flowers for the wedding. "A special mention to Danielle and Thomas who played the bride and groom. They played their parts beau-

Colyton mum thanks community for support

A COLYTON mother-of-four is overwhelmed at the support of her friends and family recently following her five-month-old daughter's diagnosis of cancer and is desperate to raise awareness of the infant illness.

group of friends, in particular, who are fundraising for the charities which are helping the couple's baby, Elizabeth, who has been diagnosed with a rhabdoid tumour in her kidney.

The tumour was located after Kathryn phoned 111 when she noticed Elizabeth's stomach was swollen. Doctors found a mass and the baby was taken to Bristol Children's Hospital where she underwent complicated surgery to remove a tumour larger than her head.

Kathryn, a teaching assistant at Colyton Primary School, explains: "Elizabeth was diagnosed with rhabdoid tumour, not what we were hoping.

"The prognosis is not good but we hope to get it under control with the intensive chemotherapy she has now started. It may also require radiotherapy.

"It is so rare and only the third case in Bristol in six years. She will have chemo until Christmas. We are remaining positive and praying for a miracle. Without chemo she may only have weeks or months to live."

Kathryn and James's friends are keen to help and have organised a number of fundraising events to support them and their three other children, Ella, seven, Lucy, five, and Johnny, two.

Kathryn says: "My lovely family and friends are all keen to fundraise. Andrea Tucker had the idea for a cake sale and raffle, which will be on at 1.45pm-4pm on Friday, 7th July at Colyton Town Hall in aid of CLIC Homes from Home Bristol, Sam's House and Bristol Children's Hospital.

"And Emma Voysey and Axminster Young Farmers' Club are doing a cream tea on Sunday, 23rd July at Colcombe Abbey Farm, Colyton EX24 6EX. They are raising money for Moorvision, Sands stillbirth and neonatal death charity and CLIC Sergeant. And some other friends are doing a commando challenge!

"We are overwhelmed and so grateful for everyone's support. All the texts are lovely to read especially when we've been in hospital. I must make a special mention to Colyton Fire Service, the team has gone above and beyond."

Colyton Caterpillars hoping to bag cash grant for early years literacy project

COLYTON Caterpillars Pre-School is bidding to bag a massive cash boost from the Tesco Bags of Help initiative.

Tesco teamed up with Groundwork to launch its community funding scheme, which sees grants of £4,000, £2,000 and \pounds 1,000 – all raised from the 5p bag levy – being awarded to local community projects.

Three groups in every Tesco region have been shortlisted to receive the cash award and shoppers are being invited to head along to Tesco stores to vote for who they think should take away the top grant.

Colyton Caterpillars is one of the groups on the shortlist for its language and literacy project for early years.

A spokesperson for Caterpillars said: "Research shows young children that are exposed to literacy at a very early age are more likely to do well in all facets of education. Our language and literacy project will provide all our children and families, especially from disadvantaged backgrounds, access to resources in an environment that will promote that early opportunity.

"We hope to create indoor and outdoor spaces where children can scribe their own stories, to create learning packs for children and families in the community to borrow, yo support our parent and toddler group and our local autism support group, and to purchase story mats and books to bring storytelling to life."

Voting is open in local Tesco stores throughout July and August. Customers will cast their vote using a token given to them at the check-out in store each time they shop.

Tesco's Bags of Help project has already delivered over £30million to more than 4,600 projects up and down the UK. Tesco customers get the chance to vote for three different groups every time they shop. Every other month, when votes are collected, three groups in each of Tesco's regions will be awarded funding.

Lindsey Crompton, head of community at Tesco, said: "We are absolutely delighted to open the voting for July and August. There are some fantastic projects on the shortlists and we can't wait to see them come to life in hundreds of communities."

Groundwork's national chief executive, Graham Duxbury, said: "We've been thrilled to see the diversity of projects that have applied for funding, ranging from outdoor classrooms, sports facilities, community gardens, play areas and everything in between.

"We're looking forward to learning the results of the customer vote and then supporting each group to bring their project to life."

Funding is available to community groups and charities looking to fund local projects that bring benefits to communities.

Anyone can nominate a project and organisations can apply online. To find out more visit www.tesco.com/bagsofhelp

Colyford flower club

anniversary in style

ROTARY CLUB OF AXMINSTER: Peter Creek (right) has taken over as president of Rotary Club of Axminster. The chain of office was presented to him by his predecessor, John Foulkes (left), during the club's weekly lunch on Friday, June 23rd. President-elect Don Waterhouse (centre) is also pictured.

SEATON & DISTRICT ART SOCIETY: The last meeting took place in The Gateway on June 5th and included a demonstration in acrylics by Norman Rossiter entitled 'Along the Riverbank'

After being intro-duced, Norman told a large audience that after taking voluntary redundancy in 1982 he began to earn a living as a professional artist working mostly, 70 per cent in fact, in acrylic.

He worked quickly, as though he was working outside, mostly from his sketch books using ing medium. He skilfully put in the fluid looking river edges all in a grey tone. Then he applied colour washes, on top of the initial drawing, over and over again, but in a limited pallet. Most important, was getting the light source in the right direction, so he decided on the light coming in at 'two o'clock'

His painting of the riverbank emerged so rapidly, in an expert exercise of reflective surfaces, explaining as he a watered down drawwent the difference behorizon, and then added tween a reflection and a shadow, and amazed everyone by demonstrat-ing a way of creating long grass banks using three brushes bound together with tape.

He then answered an audience question about his brushes, explain-ing that he uses "a selection of synthetic flats, most popular a half inch flat synthetic brush." and also gave advice regarding varnishing

The final result was exemplary and the audience showed great appreciation.

COLYFORD & DISTRICT FLOWER CLUB: The hall was a sea of green for the June meeting as it was the club's emerald (55th) anniversary.

We had the area chairman and chairmen of Sidmouth, Ottery and Budleigh join us, and were treated to a fabulous tea where even the cakes were decorated with green; a really superb effort. Our demonstrator was a favourite of the club, Nicky Heale from Taunton, and he didn't disappoint.

All his displays were all in green and white flowers with a little lesson of how to twist, turn, and manipulate leaves in between his demos giving members some good ideas.

He also told us various tales of the different ideas that brides have these days for their weddings.

Nicky is amazing as he helps his parents on their farm, he goes out doing demos, he does weddings and runs his flower shop in Taunton - all to be admired.

A vote of thanks was given by Ann Ord who is moving to Cheshire very shortly and we would like to thank Ann for all her hard work she has put into the club with love and much enthusias.m we will miss her.

The next meeting is on July 4th (today) at 2.15pm at Colyford Hall and our demonstrator will be Julia Harrison from Exmouth; her title is 'Im in the Mood'.

So do come along and join us for a fun afternoon. The competition for those wanting to enter is called 'Moody Blues', so let your imagination flow

ALL SAINTS: At the June meet ing Angela Brook-Smith gave a talk on British flowers, and arrived with an array of stunning blooms from her own garden to give a demon-stration in the art of hand tied bouauets.

Angela is passionate about growing and cultivating British flowers, and has a full diary of sowing, planting and reaping to give a constant supply of blooms throughout the year. Her talk included tips on dealing with pests and diseases, like encourage as many birds into the garden as possible to deal with slugs! She also gave tips on cutting flowers - use very sharp scissors, cut early in the morning or late in the evening and put them straight into water: to revive drooping flow ers, plunge the stems into just boiled water for 10 to 20 seconds.

A fascinating and enlightening talk and given that 'Promoting British Flowers' week commenced on June 19th it was very apt. For more information go to www.flowersfromthe farm.co.uk

Our own bloom of the month was won by Eva Schofield, and Angela's beautiful hand tied bouquet was raffled and won by Gypsy Vile, the proceeds going to charity. The next meeting will be on Tuesday, July 11th at 2.30pm, when Kate Norbury will be giving a talk. All visitors will be warmly welcomed.

EAST DEVON

EAST Devon District Council (EDDC) has thanked members of the public for playing their part in making the new recy cling service work.

The service was introduced to 51,000 households from June 12th.

In the first three days of the service, the council's contractors SUEZ collected an extra 65 tonnes of recycling compared to this time last year.

On the Monday, they collected from the Axminster,

Beer and Seaton areas and picked up 74.7 tonnes of recvcling, an increase of just over 20 tonnes.

On the Tuesday, they collected from Sidmouth and Ottery St Mary areas and collected 81.4 tonnes, an extra 25 tonnes.

On the Wednesday, they collected from Honiton area and collected just over 60 tonnes, an increase of almost 20 tonnes on this time last year. Cllr Tom Wright, the coun cil's portfolio holder for the Environment, said: "We have been overwhelmed by the high level of participation from our residents on the collection days so far and I would like to personally thank everyone who has taken the time and effort to bring about such a great start to the service. Our residents are doing such a truly excellent job and really getting on board with the new system.

"We have seen some great examples of recycling being presented at the kerbside by them which is just what we asked them to do in the information leaflets we sent out.

"We are also asking residents to separate their recycling in to the correct sacks and containers as this helps the collection crews complete their rounds more quickly, which means less disruption for residents as our vehicles can move through an area swiftly.

"With a service change as big as this we may encounter some settling in issues, so please do contact us if you have any problems. We are here to help." Cardboard, plastics, cartons and small electrical goods have been added to the extensive number of items that residents can recycle.

EVERYONE whose life has been touched by cancer is being urged to light a Candle of Hope as part of Cancer Research UK's Relay For Life in Crewkerne.

Cancer Research UK's Relay For Life is a unique celebration of life and hope. It's a fantastic family and team experience which unites everyone in the community to help beat cancer.

Teams of between eight to 15 people, of all ages, levels of fitness and walks of life, will take part in the overnight fundraising festival at Wadham School in Crewkerne on Saturday 22nd July.

Participants are asked to raise as much money as possible in the months leading up to the overnight celebration, through a wide range of activities from karaoke to quizzes, supermarket bag-packs to charity balls and by securing donations from their family, friends and work colleagues.

During Relay For Life, team members take it in turns to walk round a track while everyone else enjoys the carnival atmosphere. As the event continues non-stop through the night, team members not on the track take turns to rest, eat, or sleep in their tents, which are set up close by.

As dusk falls the specially made Candle of Hope bags, decorated with touching messages - in memory or in celebration of loved ones - are filled with sand and lit up with candles around the track and glow long into the evening. Candles are often placed to spell out the word 'Hope' and symbolise the heart-felt emotion of everyone who takes part in Relay For Life and supports Cancer Research UK's life-saving research.

The charity funds the pioneering work of thousands of scientists, doctors and nurses who are fighting over 200 types of cancer.

Thanks to Cancer Research UK, more people are surviving cancer than ever before. Survival rates have doubled over the last 40 years and the charity's work has been at the heart of that progress

But despite improvements in treatment, cancer causes more than one in four of all deaths in the UK.

That is why Cancer Research UK wants to speed up the progress it is making against the devastating disease.

And the charity is calling on the support of people in Crewkerne to help bring forward the day when all cancers are cured.

Louise Smith, Chair of Cancer Research UK's Relay For Life in Crewkerne, said: "Everyone knows someone who has been touched by cancer. Taking part in Relay For Life is a positive way to be part of your local community and help make a real difference in the fight against the disease.

"Cancer Research UK doesn't receive any government funding for its research so every step we make towards beating cancer relies on every pound. every hour and every person.

"The Candle of Hope ceremony is incredibly moving and highlights the real reason everyone joins together for Relay For Life. We believe that united we are stronger than cancer."

Everyone is welcome to join the festivities at Relay For Life and to take part in the Candle of Hope ceremony, which will take place at 10pm on Saturday 22nd July.

Organisers are accepting donation for Candles of Hope at Shops in Crewkerne including Juliette's, No7 cafe, The Menders and both Stoodleys and Wakelvs funeral directors.

Anyone who cannot attend in person but still wants to dedicate a candle and make a donation can do so via the website at cruk.org/relay.

Labour leader can't 'believe his luck'

JEREMY Corbin can't believe his luck watching the Tories fall apart.

A Prime Minister and her ministers laying themselves wide open to blackmail, ransom and coercion by the DUP in a vain attempt to keep themselves in power.

Any person or business found guilty of committing these crimes would be subject to criminal charges and a custodial sentence of bringing unity within their own devolved Government, now have the powers to dictate the future of the UK in whatever direction they are requested. At a price!

The DUP, themselves incapable

What must be terribly galling to those who voted to Remain within the EU is to see the hypocrisy of their own Government committing the same iniquities of which they accused the EU.

DEREK STURCH,

What will be legacy of our MP after hospital closures?

WHAT will be the legacy of our Tiverton and Honiton MP? Closed hospitals in Honiton (in-beds and maternity), Seaton, Axminster, Tiverton Maternity replaced with what car parks?

In 2010 the Coalition government gleefully gloated of a bonfire of quangos, however our MP voted for the Health & Social Care Act 2012 which created unelected bodies -CCGs to privatise services to the NHS.

The CCG for NEW Devon has decided to close our hospitals starting this September without a full re sponse from Devon County Council and without any suitable alternative provision. Is this democracy?

At the count for the general election our Tiverton & Honiton MP pledged his support for Honiton Hospital, with a minority government what better chance has he to say to the Secretary of State for Health 'enough is enough'.

Has he the will to do this? At the general election voters were given a clear choice of 'Save our Hospitals' and hope ... or more austerity.

If our MP's legacy is to be one of closure of our much needed community hospital services' then the electorate will be reminded of this at any election between now and 2022

THE DCC Health and Adult Care Scrutiny Committee meeting last Monday exposed shortcomings.

It exposed the fact that the CCG panel had failed to come up with answers to the questions put to them in the March meeting by Claire Wright: they even appeared not to have remembered them which shows how seriously they took them.

It exposed the fact that some of the new members of the Scrutiny Committee had not done their homework which allowed the chairman, Sara Randall Johnson, to appear to be on the side of the CCG and turned down a proposer and seconder to go ahead with a referral to the Secretary of State for Health.

She proposed a delay on the decision until a further meeting; this was agreed. At this point the clerk to the committee presented a very negative opinion on the success of such a referral to the committee.

The most important result of the meeting, in my opinion, was the fact that the CCG were clearly not in a position to guarantee adequate home care before closing beds in October despite their assurances all along that no beds would close until this was the case. We all know that beds are already closing.

The whole situation is irresponsible and beyond belief.

HILARY ARNOLD Seaton

 HAS it occurred to Hilary Arnold (Letters, June 20th) that in these times of austerity many landlords and property owners may be unable to afford expensive external ("if not internal") maintenance to their buildings.

She may well be causing considerable embar-rassment to those owners in "the area around Byrne Jones shop and the toy shop".

Maybe she could spare a thought for the feelings of those concerned.

PETER JACKSON Axmouth I WOULD like to answer the letter from Jean Bright that appeared on the Letters page, June 27th.

By the tone of the letter I can see, Jean, you are upset about the treatment the Conservative leader Theresa May received from her own colleagues and rightly so considering she had the highest number of votes for a Tory leader since 1992.

Nevertheless, she ended with less seats prior to the election. However if your letter had ended on that note it would have been fine but you then turn on the Labour leader Jeremy Corbyn with a number of inaccurate remarks.

You state that Jeremy Corbyn hates the Queen. Jeremy Corbyn does not hate the Queen and has no intention of getting rid of her.

This was pointed out during the election but obviously not by the Tory press.

Jean, you then contradict yourself by saying that Jeremy Corbyn promises a £10 minimum wage, which is higher than working people are receiving now, and that he is not for the working class! Well, I can assure you he is.

The problem with elections is that people decide to vote either because of their loyalty to a party or what is being said in the press, when really they should be looking at what is in the manifesto.

In this case the Conservatives did not do as well as they expected because their manifesto upset a lot of people, and in my opinion was a very negative and uninspiring one.

On the other hand the Labour manifesto was much more positive and thought out.

Yes, the Tory press constantly asked where is the Labour Party going to get the money to pay for it all, but it was all explained and costed.

Instead of blindly following our own parties, would it not be better to look more at what it is they stand for and what they intend to do for the people of this country?

That way we have a more unbiased view and we can really look at what it is we are voting for.

I did choose the Labour Party because it offers me a fairer society.

Also, I spent time protesting against hospital bed closures, so it would have been a contradiction to vote for a party whose intention is to close more hospital beds.

Those reasons may not appeal to some and I understand that. Each to their own, as the saying goes.

But it is what I want, so I shall vote for Labour again in the next election, which may be sooner than we think.

ADVERTISER'S ANNOUNCEMENT Dottie Kitchen is on the move!

THE fabulous Dottie Kitchen, home of the tastiest wraps in Lyme Regis, is relocating.

Currently based in Pelly Gallery's former premises on Broad Street, Ali McLoughlin and her team - along with probably the biggest collection of recipe books in West Dorset, are upping sticks and paddling eastwards. But don't worry they're not leaving town. Delightful Dottie is simply moving to the very lucky Marine Theatre.

While the premises may be changing, the delicious, healthy menu of smoothies, juices and falafel wraps with daily specials will remain. and now customers will also be able to sit down if they wish and enjoy the Marine's stunning location as well as the food.

But that's not all. Given the theatrical surroundings it seems only right that the cooking should, on occasion, put on a show too. So, kicking off the party will be a barbeque on Saturday 12th August to coincide with the Marine's showing of a Beach Boys Tribute Band. Expect scrumptious, locally-sourced burgers and sausages with a Dottie Kitchen twist, alongside a wonderful range of smoothie cocktails. What better way to start those Good Vibrations?

Summer 2017 will see Ali and her team on a new adventure at the Marine Theatre. Opening for business on Monday, 10th July Dottie Kitchen and the Marine Bar will be welcoming customers from 10am to 3pm, Monday to Friday, all year round. The Marine Bar will also always open one hour before every show and during the interval and Dottie Kitchen Coffee Bar will also always open 30 minutes before each show and during the interval. Opening hours at other times will be driven by events like the Beach Boys Tribute Band on Saturday 12th August and the weather - so make sure you check out the website at www.dottiekitchen.co.uk for up-to-date information or follow Ali and her team on Facebook

My Big Fat Wedding Bill

WEDDING guests spend an average of more than £100 on an outfit and over £75 on a gift, according to new research.

With Pippa Middleton's recent wedding estimated to have cost a cool £250,000, a study shows it's not just the bride and groom and their families who fork out when friends orrelatives tie the knot.

And two-thirds of guests (67 per cent) believe ever more competitive weddings have become "too extravagent" in recent years.

Figures show that of those who have bought a new outfit for a wedding in the last three years, the average spend was £101 - with men forking out slightly more than women at £104.

Guests spent an average of £76 on wedding presents, with women (£79.30) more generous than men (£71.82).

But men (£37.96) spend more on booze on the big day than women guests (£23.21), according to the research by consumer analysts Mintel.

The average spent on travel to and from the big day is £63, while those who have to book accommodation spent an average of £61.

And it's not just the big day itself which hits guests in the pocket as the average cost of attending a stag or hen party is £164, with hen dos (£165) marginally more expensive than stags (£163).

Nearly half of all adults (49 per cent) have attended at least one part of a wedding in the last three years while one in seven adults (14 per cent) of all adults have attended a hen or stag party during the same period, according to the research.

Jack Duckett, senior consumer lifestyles analyst at Mintel, said: "As wedding celebrations have become more extravagant affairs in recent years, the various costs that guests incur have also increased.

"Today's wedding guests are not only forking out on gifts, but in many cases also spending on new outfits, travel and accommodation.

"Hen and stag parties have also become big business, morphing from what was traditionally a night out with friends into fully fledged, multi-day celebrations in their own right.

"The rising cost of stag and hen parties reflects the increasing breadth of activities groups look to include in their celebration, ranging from afternoon tea and wine tasting experiences to spa weekends abroad.

Three out of four guests (76 per cent) say cash or gift vouchers are an ideal wedding gift.

Mr Duckett said: "With many couples today having 'set up house' together before they marry, the tradition for giving new couples homewares has been rendered increasingly obsolete.

"Wedding gift lists have consequently become more popular in recent years, as marrying couples look to guide guests towards items that they want or need.'

More than half (57 per cent) believe wedding guests shouldn't be expected to pay for food and drink on the day, while the same proportion don't believe it is fair to expect quests to travel too far to attend

The dress remains the biggest wedding priority for more than half of brides (58 per cent) with less than one in five (19 per cent) prepared to walk up the aisle in a secondhand dress.

Fifty Fears

CLOSE to a quarter of a million Brits have undergone cosmetic surgery - at the age of 50 or over, it has emerged.

The detailed study into how attitudes towards life and lifestyles change on hitting the big five-o found a large percentage feel increased pressure to look good.

One per cent of the older generation or around 231,000 people - have opted for a nip, tuck or other procedure after hitting the landmark.

The good news for adults approaching 50 is that those who are now on the wrong side of half a century feel ten years younger mentally - and four years younger physically.

Six out of ten of the 50,000 people who took part in the SunLife Big 50 study said they were enjoying life more than ever.

More than three quarters (78 per cent) said they no longer worry what other people thought of them.

Ian Atkinson, of SunLife, said: "While some over 50s are feeling the pressure to stay young, most don't actually care what other people think and are happy just living their lives to the full.

"This includes making more of an effort to eat well and exercise more regularly than they did when they were younger which suggests that far from feeling 'over the hill', people aged 50 and over are making sure they are fitter than ever so they are free to do what they want to do.

"Some people still believe that turning 50 is something to worry about, that life slows down after that - but after conducting the UK's biggest-ever study with 50,000 people over 50 we know that's not the case at all: for many, life after 50 is the best time of their lives."

The study, commissioned to launch SunLife's Welcome to Life After 50 campaign, found most had changed their lifestyle since turning 50 by quitting smoking, eating more healthily and exercising more frequently.

Six out of ten said they began taking more notice of what they were eating while 46 per cent have started exercising more.

One fifth said they had cut down on drinking since turning 50 and one in seven had stopped smoking.

*According to the ONS there were 23, 072.619 people aged 50 and over in the UK in 2015. One per cent of this number is 230,726.

GOLDEN YEARS

A healthy lifestyle can reverse old age

A good diet, keeping active and doing mental exercises such as crosswords and puzzles reverses the effects of physical frailty in the elderly and possibly protects against dementia.

Physical frailty is common among the elderly and is strongly associated with cognitive impairment.

Compared to the healthy elderly, those who are frail are up to ten times more likely to become functionally disabled.

Being frail increases the likelihood of cognitive impairment eightfold, making them up to 20 times more likely to be unable to care for themselves.

But researchers from the National University of Singapore have found that a combination of nutritional, physical and cognitive interventions can reduce or even reverse physical frailty.

Lead author Dr Ng Tze Pin said: "Physical frailty is common among the elderly and is strongly associated with cognitive impairment, dementia and adverse health outcomes such as disability, hospitalisation, and mortality.

"Physically frail elderly persons are two to 10 times as likely to become functionally disabled on daily living activities, hospitalised and die earlier than their robust counterparts.

"When physical frailty and cognitive impairment are present together in the same individual, he or she is more than 20 times as likely to become disabled, hospitalised or die earlier.

"With such compelling evidence, if it is possible to reduce or even reverse physical frailty in the elderly, we could greatly improve their quality of life."

Assoc Prof Ng and his team conducted a four-year trial between 2010 and 2013, involving 250 community-living older persons in Singapore who were 65 years old and above and who showed signs of frailty. Participants were randomly allocated to receive lifestyle interventions in one of five groups for a period of six months.

Three groups of participants were provided with either physical training, nutritional enhancement or cognitive training, while the fourth group received a combination of all three interventions.

Ciolden

The last group was a control group which did not receive any intervention.

Assessment of the participants' frailty and other outcomes were made before the start of intervention, and during the six-month trial, they had two progress measures, followed by a check up six months after the trial ended.

The NUS researchers found that the three types of intervention, as well as a combination of all three approaches, were able to reduce frailty and depressive symptoms, and improve cognitive functioning of the elderly.

Assoc Prof Ng added: "Our study shows that it is feasible to identify pre-frail and frail older persons in the community and primary care settings and provide them with lifestyle interventions to reverse frailty.

"We found that better nutrition, physical training and mental exercises can reverse frailty, enhance muscle strength and gait speed, reduce depressive symptoms and improve cognitive functioning.

"As such, these interventions can go a long way to reducing the high prevalence of physical disability, hospitalisation and mortality in an ageing society like Singapore.

"The important message from our studies is that frailty is not an inevitable part of ageing.

"There is much that older people can do for themselves to avoid becoming frail and disabled, so it is vital that they pay attention to good quality diet and nutrition, engage in physical exercise, and participate in socially and cognitively stimulating activities."

The effectiveness consultancy Benchmarketing have analysed what happens when companies include press advertising in their media mix.

They looked at 500 econometric models, across a five-year period and discovered that adding newspapers dramatically increases the return on investment of other media.

Over half were service companies who saw the effectiveness of their TV advertising double, ROI of their overall campaigns treble and their online digital display enjoy a four-fold increase. Individual categories also saw impressive results.

Automotive campaigns clocked a 70% increase. In travel, effectiveness trebled. In retail it leapt by 2.8 times. And most remarkable of all, in the financial category, Benchmarketing uncovered an increase of 5.7 times.

So, whatever business you are in, you should be in the newspapers.

Holiday Preparation

IT'S OFFICIAl - men have a last-minute rush before a holiday while women are more organised, a survey has found.

A poll of 2,000 adults revealed the age-old stereotype of men leaving things to the last minute is true, with guys admitting to starting their holiday preparation as late as possible.

The average woman starts their packing for a break four days before they leave, with more than one in ten allowing a full week to get organised.

But men don't start packing until three days before they go, with more than half admitting they often leave it until a day or so before, or even on the day, they depart.

The poll by Rescue Remedy also revealed women allow more time to travel to the airport and check in earlier than men.

Despite this, it also emerged being organised doesn't necessarily result in a more relaxed build-up to a holiday with women most likely to feel concerned before a trip away.

A spokesman for Rescue Remedy, said: "It's a common belief that men leave things until the last minute but it seems that really is the case.

"Being organised is often key when it comes to holidays - making sure you have packed everything you need and getting to the airport in plenty of time to make your flight.

"But the results show that despite being more organised, women are generally the ones who feel most worried about their holiday - so perhaps men have it right after all."

Mike's vintage jazz session comes of age

PIANIST Mike Denham's popular vintage jazz sessions at Ilminster Arts Centre come of age on Friday, July 14th. For his 21st Speakeasy at the Arts Centre. Mike is joined by vocalist and multi-instrumentalist Graham Hughes for an evening that promises to be filled with music, fun and Mike's famous anecdotes.

Graham Hughes is a remarkably versatile musician – there aren't many instruments he doesn't seem to be able to turn his hand to! As a trombone player Graham has toured the UK and Europe with renowned musicians such as Keith Nichols, Enrico Tomasso, the Charleston Chasers, the Passadena Roof Orchestra, and Alan Barnes among others and he is now in demand as a name in his own right. Some years ago Graham took up the sousaphone, and has built a reputation as a leading player, pinning down the bass-lines solidly in traditional jazz, funk, Latin and bands. He has also played double bass in gipsy jazz style bands for many years. Even his chromatic harmonica comes in handy for some concerts - an instrument he was given when he went travelling as a youngster! As a youth Graham spent many hours singing in choirs, and he is now a vocalist with the Sunshine Kings and other bands.

Mike Denham is one of the most popular performers at the Arts Centre, and his concerts generally play to a full house. A brilliant pianist, Mike has a profound and enduring love of early jazz, and his trademark amusing but informative anecdotes about the world of jazz. Mike's repertoire ranges across American jazz from the early 20th century through to 50s Rock and Roll. He plays classic rags by Scott Joplin, the blues and stomps of Jelly Roll Morton and Fats Waller, and popular songs by George Gershwin and Irving Berlin, as well as eight-to-the bar boogie and blues from Meade Lux Lewis and Albert Ammons through to the somewhat more up-to-date "Fats' Domino.

Graham Hughes repartee is studded with an array of

This will be an evening of music from the golden age of jazz played by two masterful and entertaining musicians. Advance booking is strongly recommended.

Mike Denham's 21st SpeakEasy comes to the Ilminster Arts Centre at the Meeting House on Friday, July 14th at 8pm. Tickets are £12 and a pre-show supper is available for £14 at 7pm, but must be prebooked. For more details or to book call 01460 54973 or visit the website at www.themeetinghouse.org.uk

All set for a jolly July

HAVING had a frantically busy June with some stonkingly fab shows from brilliant West Country actors and musicians, I think we're all looking for-ward to a little bit of calm with a terrific mix of great films in our cinema.

There's certainly a weird and wonder-ful selection - that's what you get when you try to find something to suit all with Wendy Van Der Plank We had to have Guardians of the Galaxy Vol 2 (12A). Who could resist this bunch of bickering renegades and Baby Groot? A feel good film for the family, fab on the big screen and you don't have to have seen the first movie to get it! Friday, July 7th at 7.30pm.

For something totally different, on Friday, July 14th we have The Lev*elling* (15) at 7.30pm. The flat, flooded plains of Somerset provide fertile soil for writer and director Hope Dickson Leach in this remarkably powerful tale of blighted farms and fractured families. This has had numerous five star reviews, so try it! Acclaimed filmmaker Guy Ritchie brings his dynamic style to the epic fantasy action adventure King Arthur: Legend of the Sword (12A) on Saturday 15th at 7.30pm. Starring Jude Law, as bad guy-Vortigan and Charlie Hunnam in the title role, the film is an action packed take on the classic Excalibur myth, tracing Arthur's journey from the streets to the throne.

to the throne. On Friday 21st at 7.30pm we have Daphne Du Maurier's dark romance My Cousin Rachel, which tells the story of a young Englishman who plots revenge against his mysterious, beautiful cousin, believing that she murdered his guardian. His feelings become complicated as he finds himself falling under the beguiling spell of her charms. Starring Rachel Weisz, Sam Claflin, Holliday Grainger and Iain Glen We also have a classical music live broadcast with, André Rieu (U) known to millions as 'The King of Waltz'. Marine Theatre's re-telling of the famous Monmouth Rebellion

FOLLOWING on from last summer's awardwinning sell-out community play, 'The Tempest of Lyme', this year The Marine Theatre have commis-sioned, developed and staged a brand new play 'Monmouth' involving a large community cast and local creatives.

Monmouth tells the story of a pivotal piece of South West history and has provided a fantastic opportunity for local people of all ages and abilities to build confidence, learn new skills and engage with the arts.

Written by screen-writer Andrew Rattenbury (Doc Martin, EastEnders) and directed by the Marine's artistic director Clemmie Reynolds, the play will be performed by local Dorset actors and musicians. Monmouth tells the story of the most controversial and exciting moment in the history of the county, putting Lyme Regis at the centre of the famous Monmouth Rebellion.

Three thousand years ago in 1685, the Duke of Monmouth landed on the Lyme Regis beach to raise a rebel uprising against the then King James II. It was a bold Protestant rebellion fuelled by the discontent amongst all classes of people who risked everything to join him against the Catholic King. They marched across the South West in a ragtag army attracting thousands of ordinary men to join the cause.

The play will be performed nightly at 7.30pm on July 6, 7, 8 (Gala Event) and July 13, 14, 15. Re-live the dramatic landing of Monmouth each night with a special pre-play procession, as the audience is invited to gather at the sandy beach from 6.30pm to witness Monmouth's landing kicking at 6.45pm. Here they'll follow the rebel army before witnessing the bloody conclusion inside the Marine Theatre.

On Saturday, July 8th there will be a Gala fundraising performance complete with a red carpet, free glass of prosecco, nibbles, a raffle drawn by our Marine Theatre patrons; writer Andrew Rattenbury and Oliver Ford Davies and 'Monmouth' cast (prizes include an 'extra'/ role on set of Doc Martin in Cornwall) plus live music by arch-lutist Kevin Avebury and a chance to meet the cast and crew! Tickets are £27.50 (including booking fee) per person and are also available to buy at the below locations.

Tickets are available to buy at the Lyme Regis Tourist Office or online via www.marinetheatre.com and are £15 Full Price, £10 concessions and £25 for the Gala Event on July 8th. Please note that all tickets generate a 10% booking fee if booking in advance.

'Waving Goodbye' to Winstons theatre season

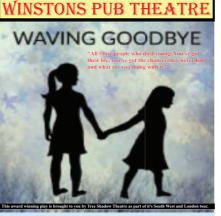

WINSTONS Pub Theatre brings it's third (and final show for this short season) to the venue this weekend, Saturday 8th and Sunday, July 9th.

'Waving Goodbye' from award-winning Exeter company Tree Shadow Theatre is described as an "emotionally charged black comedy, which asks fundamental questions about existence and relationships. Should we take risks or take the road most travelled?"

Directed by Anita Parry and performed by Louisa Wilde and Lucy Theobald, this is a new play by playwright Andrew Shakeshaft, following a call for new work by the company last year. They go on to perform in Bristol, Bath and London, but be warned the play is for adults, and contains strong language.

Founder members Andrew Beaumont and Mervvn Hewish, together with Chrissy Evans set up the venture in March 2017 to see if there was any appetite for professional live theatre in Seaton, and fastgrowing audience numbers have certainly proved that there is.

They believe that pub theatre (not usually found outside large cities) is quite unique because it is different, intimate. often experimental, sometimes challenging, but always interesting, and many of those new to the genre have agreed, giving five star reviews so far.

WHAT'S HAPPENING AT ILMINSTER ARTS CENTRE THIS MONTH

IT'S YOUR last chance to see Morville: A Garden in Another Time, on display in the Gallery until July 8th. Artist Maureen Cooper visited the famous garden at Morville in Shropshire every month for several years, using her photographs as a starting point for this fascinating evocation.

Beyond the Surface brings together the work of a group of artists whose work pushes the boundaries of what is expected. This display features paintings in a variety of mediums and styles – from the impressionistic to the ultra-contemporary – along with photographs, textile art and mixed media mosaics. This highly textured show runs July 10th to August 4th.

On July 14th, Mike Denham's hugely popular vintage jazz sessions at the Arts Centre come of age with his 21st SpeakEasy. Mike is a master of early jazz genres, and his anecdotes are as informative as they are entertaining. Mike's special guest for the evening is multi-instrumentalist and vocalist Graham Hughes.

We get a taste of contemporary Canadian jazz on July 21st with a performance from one of Canada's most successful small jazz groups, the A/B Trio. On tour all the way from Alberta, this young band are purveyors of stylish contemporary jazz and this is a wonderful chance to hear them without having to venture across the Atlantic!

On July 28th top musicians Karen Sharp & Sue Richardson pay tribute to legendary jazz players Gerry Mulligan and Clifford Brown. Karen (on baritone sax) and Sue (on trumpet) team up with the Craig Milverton Trio for a concert that celebrates two different instruments and two distinct jazz styles.

Our July workshops offer a wealth of opportunity to get creative and explore different media and crafts. Learn how to make crochet storage baskets on July 1st or get to grips with some new watercolour techniques in Nicky Clarke's one day workshop on July 7th.

therapeutic Enjoy some cross-cultural hand sewing in Slow Stitch with k3n on July 14th or settle down to discuss a good book on July 14th. Broken crockerv comes into its own on July 15th at our Mixed Media Mosaics workshops, while on July 21st you can discover the textile art of Feltmaking. Children's Art Chest on July 22nd goes all funny with a look at how to draw your favourite cartoon characters while on July 25th we are running a new workshop called Hammered Leaves and Flowers, which uses the 'Hapa Zome' technique to create unique prints from real flowers and leaves

Our regular clay, figure drawing and jazz jam sessions continue through the month as usual – please see website for details of these and all our other events. www.themeetinghouse.org.uk

Mozart concerto is an unexpected delight

Axe Vale Orchestra thrill with Beethoven's 7th Symphony under new conductor's leadership

ReView by Ray Bruno

AXE VALE Orchestra's (AVO) May concert was conducted by its new principal conductor and cello wizard Arturo Serna.

AVO do three concerts a year – in February, May and October.

Many of the audience in The Minster were looking forward to Beethoven's mighty 7th Symphony in the second half but for me it was the concerto in the first half which stole the show.

Mozart more or less invented the piano concerto and through his 27 concertos developed the form in a way which could not have been foreseen by his predecessors.

In fact, subsequent composers, like Beethoven and Schumann, didn't really substantially change the format that Mozart had created.

We heard the late piano concerto in C K503. I say "late" but we must remember that Mozart died so young and was just 30 when he wrote this.

The piano soloist was Simon Watterton, an imposing and insightful musician who physically towered above our conductor. His music-making went far beyond just playing the notes and he demonstrated his deep understanding of this music. The concerto contains great contrasts, starting with a triumphant brass and timpani call-to-arms and progressing through bewildering sequences of keys and passages which seem to belong to a later era.

Such is the genius of Mozart. I was struck by how the piano and the wind intertwined in a magical fashion; has anyone written more beautifully, almost operatically, for the wind? As a teenager I thought Mozart's music seemed too easy and superficial; that was, until I started trying to play it! ry, The symphony

Axe Vale Orchestra at The Minster

The symphony is far better-known than the concerto we had just heard. Serna emphasised the power and drama of the work rather than the dance-like quality for which it is renowned; Wagner called it the apotheosis of the dance.

But as I marvelled at the striking innovation of the work I kept thinking about the legacy which Mozart had left and how much Beethoven had benefitted from this.

The symphony sounded brilliant in the acoustics of the Minster, especially with the accompaniment of blackbirds who fortunately had to stay outside.

The second movement especially, which was used to such devastating effect in the film The King's Speech, was particularly impressive in its great build-up. The third movement didn't have quite enough of the spring I was hoping for although I did enjoy the sudden joke which Beethoven reserves for the last few bars.

The finale however did not suffer from any lack of forward drive as Serna took us all on the great journey through to its final triumphant notes.

Under their new conductor the orchestra has achieved a high level of quality especially in terms of intonation and phrasing. The next concert will be in the autumn and will contain a particularly quirky favourite of mine, the Poulenc Flute Concerto. I very much look forward to it.

HOW TO NAIL THE FOLIAGE TREND IN EACH ROOM OF YOUR HOUSE

By Gabrielle Fagan, Press Association

GO GREEN at home with our guide to embracing houseplants

Houseplants are back in vogue. Once a popular feature in Sixties and Seventies homes, they fell out of favour in the minimalist Nineties, but now going green indoors is all the rage again.

"We've observed the creeping return of greenery in the way some of the chicest folk around decorate their homes today," says Kara O'Reilly, co-author with Ian Drummond of At Home With Plants .

"Cool interiors are upping the variety of plant pots in their ranges, and there's a revival of everything from terrariums to hanging planters as decorative elements." "One of the most amazing things about houseplants is that you enjoy them all year round, and there's nothing more satisfying to the soul than nurturing a living thing," adds Kara. "With a little know-how, even the least green fingered among us can grow an indoor plant. But be warned - once you start, the look will grow on you!"

Living room

"Houseplants can have enormous impact in a living room because there are so many areas to display them," says Kara.

"Follow the fashion for hanging planters in macrame, metal or marble - and attach them to the ceiling to create a 'green screen'. Or invest in a set of open shelves, fill with potted plants to make a room divider. Quirky containers for foliage - such as vintage hampers - will inject personality into a setting'

How to display: Surfaces from mantels to shelves, windowsills and side tables are perfect homes for plants. If you have the space, go to town with a group of different sized, floor-standing architectural palms to create a focal point.

What to pick: Palms, weeping figs or finger trees are all conversation pieces. Choose plants in foliage colours to complement your ornaments or colour scheme, such as trailing plants, English ivy, chain cactus; or flowering plants such as flamingo flower, pink quill or vanda orchids

Kitchen "The kitchen's the heart of the home, so why not show yours a little love with some amongst your lotions and potions. creative planting?" says Kara.

"Herbs are an obvious choice, as they're attractive, an invaluable cooking ingredient and their fragrance can mask odours.'

How to display: Try placing a large container of mixed herbs on a table, or plant individual varieties of herbs in matching pots and line them up along a shelf, a windowsill, or a work surface.

What to pick: Chives, coriander, mint, basil. They prefer a light, bright position such as a sunny windowsill and regular water and occasional misting. Ideally, buy plants from a garden centre as they'll last longer. Asplenium ferns, echeveria succulents and moth orchids also thrive in kitchens with lots of light. Bathroom

"Most bathrooms tend to fall into one of two camps: light and humid, or dark and humid. While light levels are obviously a key consideration when choosing plants

What to pick: Cacti and most succulents are an absolute no-no. Orchids, ferns, aloes and palms all like humidity and can also tolerate fluctuations in temperature. Trailing plants work well, including spider plants; heart-leaf philodendron and chestnut vine. Foliage plants are a better choice for a dark bathroom as flowering plants generally need higher levels of light.

Bedroom

"Plants don't only look good in bedrooms but they can also help us feel calm and act as natural air conditioners, gently raising the humidity levels and improving air quality," says Kara.

How to display: A plant on a bedside table will upgrade its look and is a welcoming touch for a guest. Consider an indoor tree by a bed, or hanging planters to bring interest to a dull corner.

What to pick: Plants that cope with slightly lower temperatures and potentially lower light levels. Seek out varieties which are proven toxic filters, such as heartleaf philodendron and peace lily. Improve air quality by choosing plants that release oxygen at night, such as orchids, Barbados aloe and mother-in-law's tongue; while lavender (known as a sleep inducer) could scent the air.

At Home With Plants, by Ian Drummond & Kara O'Reilly, with photography by Nick Pope, is published by Mitchell Beazley, priced £20. Available now ŠKODA is upgrading the smallest tional). City Safe Drive with light member of its model range. The ŠKODA CITIGO is being launched with three or five doors and many new design, technology and equipment features. The city car stands out in the crowd. The front, side and rear sections display precise shapes, defined edges and smooth surfaces. Instantly recognisable as an attractive, modern and practical city runabout. The ŠKODA CITIGO embodies modern technology and modern urban mobility.

Design: compact yet spacious With a length of 3,597 mm, width of 1,645 mm and height of 1,478 mm (five-door model), the ŠKODA CITIGO is one of the most compact yet spacious cars in its segment. There is a choice of three trim levels: S, SE and SE L. The ŠKODA CITIGO is also available as a Monte Carlo edition.

The completely revised front section includes a new bonnet with powerdome design, a modified bumper, revamped fog lights and a redesigned radiator grille in the typical ŠKODA design. The headlights feature LED daytime running lights (standard from SE) and the fog lights are now available with a cornering function (opand rain sensor as well as Light Assist with Coming Home function also provide greater comfort (optional from SE trim level).

The redesigned rear section is characterised by the dark-tinted tail lights (from the SE trim level upwards). In the Style and Ambition trim levels, the roof and the wing mirrors are available in white or black as an optional extra (not applicable for the body colours Sunflower Yellow and Dark Sapphire Blue).

14-, 15- and 16-inch alloy wheels are available. The new 15-inch 'Conan' alloy wheel (optional for SE L trim level) is available in silver. The shape of the eight spokes creates the impression of a turbine. In terms of body colours, the vibrant standard colour Kiwi Green replaces the metallic colour Spring Green.

In the interior, the city car presents large interior dimensions that are typical of ŠKODA. The ŠKODA CITIGO offers a boot capacity of 251 l and elbow room of 1,369 mm (in the five-door). With the rear seats folded down, the boot can hold 951 l in the three-door and 959 l in the five-door. The long wheelbase of 2,420 mm creates plenty of space in the rear; four people can enjoy journeys in comfort. The EasyEntry function in the three-door version (standard in SE and SE L trim levels) makes it easier for passengers to get into the back.

The rear headroom is a generous 947 mm (993 mm in the front). Elbow room in the rear, which measures 1.389 mm in the threedoor and 1,388 mm in the five-door, is also very generous.

A choice of two engines with three cylinders

Modern three-cylinder engines are used in the ŠKODA CITIGO. The front-, transverse-mounted engines produce 44 kW (60 PS) and 55 kW (75 PS), and drive the front wheels. The cylinder capacity is 1.0 1 (999 cc) in each case. Despite the small cylinder capacity, all power variants of the 1.0-l powertrain are characterised by high torque with low noise levels and high efficiency. All engines meet the strict requirements of the EU6 emissions standard. In addition, models at all trim levels can be equipped with GreenTech technology as an option, which optimises fuel consumption.

The entry-level engine is the 1.0-1 engine with 44 kW (60 PS). Maximum torque of 95 Nm is achieved at 3,000 rpm. The ŠKODA CITIGO accelerates from 0 to 100 km/h in 14.4 seconds. Its top speed is 162 km/h. In combination with the five-speed manual transmission, it has a combined consumption of 4.4 l per 100 km on average and emits 101 g of CO₂ per km. In the particularly fuel-efficient GreenTech version, these values are 4.1 l per 100 km and 96 g CO_2 /km respectively. With the same cylinder capacity (999 cc), the more powerful engine variant of the ŠKODA CITIGO delivers 55 kW (75 PS). 90 per cent of its maximum torque, which is also 95 Nm, is available at 3,000 rpm. Top speed: 173 km/h (with manual transmission), acceleration from 0 to 100 km/h: 13.5 seconds. Combined consumption with manual transmission averages 4.4 l per 100 km, corresponding to CO₂ emissions of 101 g/km. In the GreenTech version, the engine consumes 4.1 l per 100 km, with CO₂ emissions of 96 g/km.

A special gift to celebrate a 60th birthday: The new Fiat 500 Anniversario birthday of the iconic Fiat 500 a new special series, the Fiat 500 Anniversario, will be available to order from today. The history of Fiat 500 has been punctuated by many special editions, launched throughout its life to underline its distinctive ability to combine exclusivity with mass appeal, while remaining very much true to itself. The design of the Fiat 500 has fired the imagination of artists and fashion designers, to create examples such as the "500C by Gucci", the "500 by Diesel" and the recent 500 Riva, "The Smallest Yacht in the world".

The Fiat 500 Anniversario is available as a hatchback or a convertible and honours the 1957 Italian-made icon with a contemporary re-interpretation of the stylistic features that made it famous in the Dolce Vita years. This new special series has a sixties look that references some of

TO CELEBRATE the 60th the key historic characteristics of the car, such as the two new exclusive colours. Sicilia Orange and Riviera Green. the chrome accents on the bonnet and door mirror caps, the vintage Fiat logos and the 16-inch vintage alloy wheels. An alternative 16-inch diamond finish alloy wheel is also available, as a no cost option, offering a modern take on the spokes of classic car wheels. The vintage elegance of the car is completed by the cursive "Anniversario" logo sported on the boot.

The Fiat 500 has always had an inimitable look, and with the Anniversario every detail is designed to capture the carefree style and mood of the sixties, but with a modern touch. Inside, the new seats channel the retro style with horizontal striped fabric, contrast piping in body colour and an embroidered 500 logo, while the body coloured dashboard and "Anniversario" embroidered floor mats complete the look.

The sixties was synonymous with embracing new technology and the new Fiat 500 Anniversario does just that. With automatic climate control, cruise control and rear parking sensors as standard, customers can also specify the optional Tech Pack, which includes the 7-inch TFT instrument panel, the Uconnect 7-inch HD LIVE radio, Apple Car Play and Android AutoTM, and satnav on request, bringing the Fiat 500 Anniversario bang up-to-date.

Available in combination with the 1.2-litre 69hp petrol engine, the Fiat 500 Anniversario returns 60.1mpg on the combined cycle, emitting just 110g/km CO2, combined with the Dualogic gearbox this reduces to 105g/km CO2, while returning 62.8mpg.

It was on July 4, 1957 that the "great little car", the emblem of mass car ownership. was launched in Turin. Its success was refreshed in 2007 and then again in 2015, with this year seeing it reach a new milestone of two million cars sold worldwide. The Fiat 500 Anniversario is a gift from 3rd July, priced from from 500 to its fans with a special series packed with features at an affordable price. The Fiat 500 Anniversario is available to order from today and will be in dealerships

The new Vauxhall VXR8 GTS-R

THE new Vauxhall VXR8 GTS-R is powered by an evolution of the current GTS's supercharged 6.2litre V8 engine, producing 595PS (up from 576PS) and 740Nm of torque, making it Vauxhall's most powerful car in the company's 114-year history.

Production of the Holden Com modore model, on which the GTS-R is based, comes to an end in Australia this October, when Holden's manufacturing plant finally closes. Vauxhall – a sister brand to Holden in the GM family - has been importing the VXR8 in various forms since 2007, and sells the car through selected dealerships in its network with full service back up and a threeyear, 60,000-mile warranty.

As befits its last-of-line status the GTS-R-R is no ordinary VXR8 - and in this form it's exclusive to the UK, too. Sending drive via a limited slip differential to the rear wheels, the GTS-R retains the previous GTS's clever torque vectoring system, but adds an upgraded braking system with six-piston, monoblock calipers and 410mm discs up front. In addition, the GTS-R wears all-new 20-inch forged alloy rims (ten-inch width at the rear, 9-inch at the front).

Visually, the GTS-R has a fresh face, with a new front fascia, splitter, wings and carbon fibre vents, while at the rear there's a new look diffuser, spoiler (with carbon fibre upper), lower panel and quad exhaust outlets with diamond-shaped exhaust tips. Inside, the diamond theme continues in the Alcantara and leather seat trim. The current supercharged LSA engine has been re-mapped and is fitted with a high-flow air filter to achieve its hike in power. Just 15 Vauxhall VXR8 GTS-R's will come to the UK, at an on-theroad price of £74,500.

HONITON with John Pawley

CLUB President Max Pipe, organised the annual Tuesday Mixed Invitation competition.

In all 36 players took part in this Greensomes competition – with some amazing scores.

Winning the competition, and the Gordon Longhurst Trophy, were Bill Eaton and his guest Di Parson from Downes Crediton with 49 points. Andy Wall and his guest Jackie Ford (Taunton & Pickeridge) were second with 47 beating his mum Di and her guest Bob Webber (Sidmouth) on count-back. Sue Williams, a Honiton Country Member, and her husband David Williams (Okehampton) took fourth place with 45.

Jackie Ford also won the 'nearest the pin' competition for the ladies, whilst the men's award was won by Honiton's Stewart Slater. Jackie and Andy were one of only two pairs to achieve a 2 on the 10th the other pair being Cyril Dann and his partner Kim Beauchamp. Each pairing shared 10 balls.

A lot of rain overnight on Tuesday made course conditions slower and allowed many ladies to score well in the annual Bradshaw Bogey. This is matchplay against the course, so shots gained cannot be carried forward to the next hole, neither can those shots lost.

The winner, with +3 was Olwen Eaton ahead of Chris Pearce on count-back. Henrietta Bradshaw was next on level par, again on count-back from Jane Watts with Carol Cole and Penny Blackburn following on -1. The nine-hole Stableford competition was won by Jan Lloyd. The seniors lost both their matches in past week - at home to Crediton and away at Taunton & Pickeridge

The competition for Friday was a Bowmaker where teams of three play the course with one scoring on the first six holes, two scoring for the next six and all scoring for the last six. Top score was 69 from Dave Maggs, Bob Cock-ett & Kit Barker, ahead of the 68 of Dave Morgan, David Pearson & Nick Mitchell. There were four teams recording 66, so count-back was used to position Stan Squire, Peter Stubbington & John Chew third and Phil Faulkner, Mike Watts & John Frith next.

The 62 members were playing off three quarters of their handicaps, so it was a fair challenge. There were plenty of two's; Derek Herrington, Nick Mitchell, Alex Neil, Bob Cockett, Tom Stanton and Buzz Harris at the 2nd -

David Scott and John Pawley at the 4th and Steve Blundell and Stan Squire at the 12th.

On Sunday the Mixed Greensomes Open was

Three teams got a two - all at the second - receiving 21 balls each. Honiton's Ron Graham was nearest the pin on the second.

Meanwhile, the Saints' senior match team en-tertained the Fosse Way. After three games, the scores were level, but three further wins for the home side ensured a 41/2 - 11/2 victory.

Result: Roger Stone & Mike Aldridge won 5&4, Andy Beale & Mike King lost 4&3, Roger Davis & Alan Davis halved, John Wandless & John McOmish won 5&3, George Wallace & Keith Potter won 4&2, Nobby Hodder & Barrie Singleton won 5&3.

The Seniors held the annual Memorial Bowl trophy on Wednesday in remembrance of the seniors who have passed away

A total of 63 members formed 21 teams and the competition format was a two from three stableford.

In appalling conditions, the scoring was well below standard.

Result: 1st Keith Branchflower; Chris Gingell & Chris Basterfield 80 points, 2. George Wallace; George Willerton & Bob Hollingsworth 78, 3rd Bob Barrow; John McOmish & Nobby Hodder 77. On Friday, the Seniors held the final of the Challenge Cup land all carded 2s. On June 24th Axe Cliff held a Midsummer Madness Competition. The Madness came as in a 5am shotgun start, medal format, Texas Scramble comprising teams of three.

AXE CLIFF with Peter Motsom

Then on Wednesday they braved the heat again at Yelverton where they battled valiantly on a tricky course and were defeated 5¹/₂-1¹/₂.

On Friday the ladies travelled to Staddon Heights where they were beaten $5\frac{1}{2}$ to $1\frac{1}{2}$ again. A tough week for the valiant team of ladies, some playing in all 3 matches as well as the Mixed Open and also the Midsummer Madness competition during the week. Consequently they played four matches with only 20 ladies in the whole section.

The Seniors beat the prestigious Royal North Devon club 4-1 in the Second Round of Devon's Premier Seniors' Cup competition.

In this Emerton Court match the Axe Cliff winning pairs were : Stuart Mackie & Alan Morgan; Nick Povey & Peter Hornsby; Rob Grove & Gilbert Cox who are still unbeaten and, the match reserves Dave Bruce & Bill Polley also won their game

They were ably supported by Tony Strong & Adrian Bishop; Gerry Turner & Chris Walker who halved their games.

Royal North Devon is the oldest links course in England and Axe Cliff will have a difficult return match

The Seniors continued with their fine form at home against Exminster with a 4-3.win.

The winning pairs were; Mick Tomes & Robbie Robinson with some brilliant putting, Alan Mor-
